Knowledge is prevention

We often talk about women's intimate hygiene, but little is said about men's hygiene.

However, the hygiene of male private parts is very important, both for the man and his partner, in order to prevent the transmission of microorganisms which can cause the so called ping-pong infections. Indeed, these infections are particularly dangerous for women in reproductive age and for pregnant women.

Therefore, it is fundamental that men pay particular attention to the cleansing of penis, glans and foreskin, since they are delicate zones more prone to bacterial attack causing inflammation and infections.

Dermoxen
intimate cleanser

is the new project of prevention and protection for men. With natural active ingredients, it gently protects and provides a pleasant long-lasting sensation of freshness, while respecting the physiological pH of the genital area.

A proper daily intimate hygiene can help the couple relationship:

- Wash your genitals twice a day, in the morning and at night before going to bed. Wash your penis first, then the testicles and finally the anal and perianal area.
- Dry thoroughly your genitals since humidity favours the growth of bacteria.
- Do not use the shower gel for your intimate hygiene. Instead, use specific cleansers for male intimate hygiene which respect the physiological pH of the intimate area.
- During washing, check the shape and the volume of your testicles. In case of anomalous situations, consult your andrologist.
- Wash your genitals before and after sexual intercourse.
- It is a good rule to use the condom from the beginning to the end of sexual intercourse.
- It is recommended to wear cotton underwear.
- Visit your andrologist for a medical examination every year.
